D. C. Skeels has retired from Esso Production Research after 35 years with various Esso affiliates.

David M. Stewart is currently assistant professor of geophysics and director of the Seismological Lab and Observatory at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. Formerly, he had been a graduate student at the University of Missouri at Rolla, having received his Ph.D. in geophysics in May 1971.

Harold E. Swanson has joined Newmont Exploration, Ltd., Danbury, Connecticut as a geophysicist. He was formerly a senior research scientist with the New Jersey Zinc Company.

H. A. Winkler has gone into private consulting work in Ft. Myers, Florida. He was formerly with the United Nations.

DEATHS

It was mistakenly reported in this space in October GEOPHYSICS that F. M. Kannenstine had been elected to Honorary Membership prior to his death. Such was not the case.

GEOPHYSICS wishes to apologize for any embarrassment which might have been caused by this error.

Palmer E. Koenig of Severna Park, Maryland, died recently.

George W. Winter died August 31 in Tyler, Texas.
